Cows Dwell in Grandeur on Ideal Farm Conducted Expressly for Their Benefit

Just Outside of Washington 133 Thoroughbred Jerseys Eat Meal Good Enough for Society Women.

In the most thriving thoroughbred Jersey country in Maryland, the 133 cows comprised in the herd owned and operated by Fred A. Graham appear to be as well cared for and as well fed as any herd of cows in the State, but in the small village of Hillcrest, in the heart of the hills and in a spot where the soil is so fertile and the climate so ideal, it is not surprising to find that the cows are so well cared for and so well fed. At the entrance to the farm, which is situated on the corner of the road leading to the farm, a sign reads: "The Hillcrest Farm, 133 Thoroughbred Jerseys, Fred A. Graham, Proprietor."

On the morning, this herd is pastured on a recent crop, for the morning's milk is taken every day. This treatment is enough to show that the cows are well cared for and so well fed. The cows are well cared for and so well fed. The cows are well cared for and so well fed.

When the cows are milked, the milk is taken to the house, where it is used for the family. The milk is taken to the house, where it is used for the family. The milk is taken to the house, where it is used for the family.
